What Is It? Energy Share of Wyoming is a private, nonprofit organization established to help people in hardship circumstances with energy-related emergencies. It assists people with energy problems when no other resources are available to them and when these problems are caused by circumstances beyond their control.

Who Sponsors It? Energy Share of Wyoming is a partnership of numerous concerned individuals and organizations in the state representing senior citizens, churches, utilities, disabled-service groups and human-service recipients. It is administered by a board of directors representing various organizations. The board approves allowable uses of monies it receives, establishes eligibility guidelines and oversees periodic audits on Energy Share expenditures.

How Can Deserving People Apply? The Salvation Army is the local representative for Energy Share and is responsible for assessing needs and determining eligibility for Energy Share assistance. To apply or locate your local Salvation Army field representative, please call toll-free 877-461-5719 or contact Montana-Dakota Utilities Co. at 800-638-3278. Applications can be made from December 1 to April 30. (Subject to the availability of funds.)

Who Qualifies? Energy Share funds are to be used as a last resort for people in need with no other obvious resources. The Salvation Army determines assistance based on need, lack of resources and the amount of available Energy Share funds.

What Can Energy Share Funds Pay? The organization focuses on helping with energy-related emergencies. If all other sources of assistance have been exhausted, Energy Share may help individuals pay their energy bills. A one-time expenditure of up to $400 per household can be made to provide assistance.

Where Does Energy Share Get Its Money? Energy Share is a private, nonprofit effort. The money comes from voluntary contributions from individuals, organizations, churches and industry — from anyone who wants to help others!

Energy Share of Wyoming focuses on Wyoming. Everyone is given the opportunity to help someone in need through Wyoming's cold winters. Donations are strictly voluntary and are tax deductible.
