- vi. If such test shows the average error of the meter to be 2% or less, the customer will pay for the test if the meter has already been tested within the previous twelve months. See §VI.1.f. for the applicable charges.
 - vii. If a tested meter shows an average error greater than plus or minus 2%, the Company will refund any overbilling, and the customer will pay any underbilling, in accordance with §V.10.
8. MEASUREMENT UNIT FOR BILLING PURPOSES - The measurement unit for billing purposes shall be one (1) decatherm (dk), unless otherwise specified. Billing will be calculated to the nearest one-tenth (1/10) dk. One dk equals 10 therms or 1,000,000 Btu's. Dk's shall be calculated by the application of a thermal factor to the volumes metered. This thermal factor consists of:
- a. An altitude adjustment factor used to convert metered volumes at local sales base pressure to a standard pressure base of 14.73 psia, and
 - b. A Btu adjustment factor used to reflect the heating value of the gas delivered.
9. UNIT OF VOLUME FOR MEASUREMENT –
- a. The standard unit of volume for purpose of measurement shall be one (1) cubic foot of gas at either local sales base pressure or 14.73 psia, as appropriate, and at a temperature base of sixty degrees Fahrenheit (60° F). Local sales base pressure is defined as four (4) ounces per square inch gauge (psig) pressure plus local average atmospheric pressure. The methods below describe the means to convert to this standard:
 - 1. For the majority of customers where natural gas is measured with positive displacement or turbine meters, correction to local sales base pressure shall be made for actual pressure and temperature with factors calculated from Boyle's and Charles' Laws. Boyle's Law states that gas contracts proportionately to pressure increase and expands proportionately to pressure decreases.

2. Where gas is delivered at 20 psig or more, the deviation of the natural gas from Boyle's Law shall be determined by application of Supercompressibility Factors for Natural Gas. Supercompressibility will be calculated in the corrector using the Pipeline Research Committee International (PRCI) supercompressibility calculation found in the "Manual for the Determination of Supercompressibility Factors for Natural Gas", dated December 1962. For hand-billed accounts, application of supercompressibility factors will be waived on monthly billed volumes of 250 dk or less.

- b. Customers needing more information in regards to Supercompressibility Factors may contact the Company to discuss by phone or to arrange an appointment at the Company's Sheridan Office to review the PRCI publication referenced above.
- c. Each service meter shall clearly indicate the units of measurement. If the Company invoices customers in a different unit of measurement than the service meter indicates, the conversion factor shall be stated on the customer bill. In cases where special types of meters are used or where the readings of a meter must be multiplied by a constant to obtain the units consumed, that information shall be placed on the customer bill. When service is discontinued, a bill for final usage will be processed within 30 days following discontinuance.

10. BILLING ADJUSTMENTS –

- a. In accordance with Wyo. Stat. § 37-2-218, if the Company charged, collected or received any rate or rates in excess of the rates fixed in the Company's tariff, the Company shall immediately refund to the customer the difference between the rates fixed in the tariff and the rates charged, collected or received. This shall also apply to meter errors described in §V.7.
- b. If the Company undercharged a customer as a result of a meter or metering inaccuracy or other continuing problem under the Company's control, the Company may bill the customer in accordance with Wyo. Stat.
